Garbage City, Cairo, Egypt

The climate in Egypt is desert meaning hot in the day and cold at night. Garbage City has little in the way of utilities, heat, electricity, running water or sanitation except along the main street where it was safe enough for me to photograph. The dorms are a God send compared to the conditions the orphans endured before they were brought here. My friends in Egypt work hard to rescue these orphans and keep them healthy.

Illness is very common with street children. Parasites, water borne and food borne illness, unvaccinated illnesses claim their young lives. Visits to the hospital are frequent and very expensive. My friend begs, borrows, and goes without in order to keep these children alive.

I am struck by the difference between Garbage City and the orphanage. Here taking off shoes on a clean tile floor compared to walking in filth all the time, everywhere.

Unfinished Third Floor. Future housing for orphan family groups and widow caregivers.

Religion that God our Father accepts as pure and faultless is this: to look after orphans and widows in their distress and to keep oneself from being polluted by the world.

James 1:27

Fireplace: Not smart to put inside a grain silo
Will cause explosion.
I don't think this is a grain silo for that reason.
